Prudent Peers Inc. Community Rules and Guidelines

Here at Prudent Peers, we will have a diverse group who will have an array of backgrounds, culture, language and since we serve globally, we need to consider many different aspects. We have the right to change these guidelines at any time, the main purpose is for privacy, safety, respectful communication and to keep all laws. Below are the rules for our community and please sign and email this form to prudentpeers@gmail.com.

1. Email Addresses & Profile Photos
For the nature of this community and the workshops, groups, gatherings, live chat discussions and blogs; we require [your] self profile photo (not pictures of pets, other people, avatars) and your full (first, last) name within your email address.

2.Respectful communication
Differences in opinion are natural and expected; however, personal attacks, hostility, threats, and insults are not acceptable. Peers should engage in respectful and courteous communication at all times.No cursing, swearing, or profanity.

3. No tolerance for hate speech or discrimination
Racism, sexism, ageism and/or other forms of discrimination are not tolerated. Content promoting hate speech or prejudice is strictly prohibited.

4. Protecting user privacy
Peers should never share personal information (theirs or others') in public forums without consent. This includes phone numbers, private messages, or other confidential information.

5. No explicit content, spam, requests for money or content that doesn't fit the community's focus.
To ensure relevant and valuable conversations, spam, promotional content, and asking for donations (no Cash App, Venmo, PayPal or digital money app tags allowed.) and we may view/find other materials to be strictly prohibited as well.

*All content that doesn't align with the community's focus will be removed.

6. No illegal activities allowed.
Any discussions or content related to illegal activities — such as fraud, piracy, illicit drug use, or threats of violence — are forbidden.

7. Giving proper credit for shared content
Peers must credit original sources when posting articles, images, or other materials.

8. Encouraging collaboration and support
Communities thrive on knowledge-sharing and peer-to-peer support. We encourage peers to offer help, answer questions, and contribute valuable insights.

9. Prioritizing peer safety and reporting rule violations
Any peer should report inappropriate behavior or content that violates our community guidelines. We are working to build a strong community management strategy to ensure that all reports are addressed promptly.

10. Blocking & Removal
We hope that it will not come to this, but if the above rules are not followed we reserve the right to remove a peer from a group, online meeting, gathering and furthermore block from the community.

We are working hard to keep this a safe and supported place and the point of these rules and guidelines is to help each peer feel safe, comfortable and cared for. We need a space to grow, learn, share and be part of a thriving community.

If you read the above rules and guidelines and you agree that you fully understand each of them, please sign, date, check the form below and email it to prudentpeers@gmail.com.

Thank you.

Kind regards,

Founder Leah Mooradian
